Love4Life What's it all about?

Love4Life works with vulnerable teenage girls through small group activities, one-to-one sessions and mentoring. We offer support, values-based education, self-esteem building activities, sex and relationships guidance and decision-making skills.

We work alongside a number of different youth agencies and specialist learning providers, and also run healthy living drop in centres on a number of different housing estates, supporting young girls and their families through fun and engaging activities.

Supporting young girls in school or college

In addition, Love4Life offers a 6 week curriculum for schools and colleges, delivering tailor-made education packages and mentoring to suit individual needs. This involves work with selected pupils needing extra support and lessons that fit in with the PHSE curriculum. We offer teenage girls an environment in which they are valued, encouraged and gain confidence. Our activities boost their personal sense of value and help them look forward to a brighter future and healthier lifestyle.
