Try to imagine anyone, maybe one of your neighbors without the basic necessity of fresh food. Brooklyn Rescue Mission depends largely on the generosity of individual donors to support its community food programs. Please help us bring fresh food to people struggling to fight against poverty and hunger.

BRM Brooklyn Rescue Mission

Farm Fresh Peppers

Brooklyn Rescue Mission has created a healthy sustainable food system where pantry guests can eat locally grown food.

BRM promotes healthy living and neighborhood revitalization for Central Brooklyn residents through, an innovative sustainable food system, with a focus on families and youth. Beyond providing a low income community with a sustainable, fresh food source and revolutionizing the concept of emergency food provision to include freshly picked organic food, BRM envisions urban farming as the starting point for a self-reliance movement, empowering the neighborhood's residents to take ownership of their own food supply, nutrition and neighborhood revitalization.

Food Outreach Program

The food pantry and senior pantry programs receives request for food assistance from 4000 people per month approximately 36,000 meals monthly. Our BRM food outreach program is servicing larger numbers of families for the 3 large housing projects located within 3 blocks from the mission.

Farm Fresh Produce

Bed-Stuy Farm

The Bed-Stuy Farm program provides fresh organic produce to those at-risk of hunger in our community. The Bed-Stuy Farm produces fresh vegetables such as collard greens, cucumbers, lettuce, red & green peppers, tomatoes and cabbage for distribution to the community through our various food outreach programs.

Growing Power Regional Outreach Training Center

The ROTC center educates young people, community residents and emergency food providers in urban farming through workshops on the Bed-Stuy Farm to teach farm participants how to grow their own food.

Growing Success Program

Growing Success Youth Farm Interns work on the Bed-Stuy Farm planting, cultivating and harvesting produce. Bed-Stuy Farm interns receive urban farm training and learn marketing techniques on how to sell organic produce and value added products to a community which is devoid of places to buy locally produced organic food products.

Community Farmer's Market

Farm interns and volunteers operate a low cost youth farm stand for community residents at our Malcolm X Blvd. Community Farmer's Market. Through support from the FMNP farmer's market nutrition program our community market will supply fresh produce to the neediest members of our community through families enrolled in the Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) Program, income-eligible seniors and youth from low-income households.
