

The goal of Agua Pura Para El Pueblo is the elimination of waterborne diseases in the communities we serve. Many life threatening diseases are caused by drinking contaminated water with children being particularly vulnerable, and the contamination can result from many different causes.

Agua Pura is invited by communities and organizations throughout Latin America to come and demonstrate simple methods by which families can protect themselves from diarrheal disease.

We have various resources to offer, depending on the requests and needs of the communities.

We train local health workers and community leaders in modern methods of water testing and analysis. We also help communities test and monitor their own drinking water supplies. Agua Pura can advise on methods of rain water harvesting and safe storage, and on protection of other water sources.

Agua Pura can work directly with families advising them of simple things they can do to keep themselves and their children safe and healthy. We distribute free supplies such as Water Pasteurization Indicators so that mothers will know when their drinking water has been purified and is safe to drink.

Agua Pura is committed to the elimination of these diseases through education, training and support over the long term. We believe in following up on our work and monitoring our results. It is only through this focus that we can fulfill our motto of “Clean Water For The People - One Family at a Time”.
