

Sauli village Badanga:

Sauli lives with her husband Kamal Lal and two daughters in village Badanga.

Kamal migrates to Udaipur City (22 kms from his village) for wage-labor. Sauli stays at home to look after her daughters and works on her agriculture farm when needed. Her elder daughter Pushpa is now three years old and Bharti is three months.

In Seva Mandir-run Immunization Camps Bharti has received three shots so far. When the camp started Pushpa's immunization was incomplete and so Pushpa was given rest of the shots at Seva Mandir-run Camps. Sauli is very happy to be able to get her daughters immunized because the Government health care facilities are quite far from her village.

Sauli says –“ I come to the Immunization Camps and all my other friends in the village also come to these camps for getting their children immunized. Earlier the Government Nurse used to come to our village. But she was very irregular and her visits were uncertain. I like Seva Mandir Camps. Because the camps are regular and are held close to our homes.”

In the last quarter over 1200 children and over 500 expecting mothers have been completely immunized in more than 600 Seva Mandir immunization camps.

We thank to all our donors for making it possible.
