He lives with his older sister and six younger brothers together. He really wants to go to school but they can't afford it. Now he is going to PPDR to learn English and Kiswahili. He never went to any formal school; this is also his biggest dream. But they always ask themselves what next after learning English at PPDR. He wonders if he will one day have a chance to go to formal school.

He often struggles to get basic needs like clothes and food. They are segregated by the natives for example materials are sold to them because they are refugees. And it is also difficult for him to find a job because natives do not want to employ them. But he is still job hunting. His sister provides everything and his wish also want to cater for himself.
