

Young widows go Chicken,sale eggs, affords better health.

Edith, Jane and Grace are some of the young widows who have benefited from the recent support received from global giving donors to SORAK Development Agency.

When SORAK gave 10 local chicken to each of 10 widows worth 200$ little did we anticipate that 10 chicken would mean a lot to the lives of vulnerable young widows faced with challenges of caring for orphans as well as meeting travel costs to health units for ARVs. A round visit to Edith,Jane and Grace bears testimony of how a few dollors can change lives more than expected.

“Are you aware that from the ten chicken provided to me, I now have 69 layers, I sold 23 last months and earned 184$.I have been able to complete my house,yet I had worries that I would die before completing my 2 rooms brick house and leave my children on earth to suffer”...intimated Edith,

“For me I have been nicknamed maama chicken in the entire village,...who ever has a function and would like chicken to serve guests, they have to run to my chicken farm which has now grown from 10 chicken to 112.”... Emphasised Jane.

“I can now afford to pay fees for my 2 orphans, every school term I sale 4 chicken to buy books, pencils and school fees, I refused to take my orphaned children to public school, ... I can afford to pay the 20$ asked per term” rejoiced Grace.

All the three were praises to SORAK and Global giving. Dear Global giving donors, can you see how a few dollars can change lives in Uganda.

If you provide us another 200$, another 20 widows and 40-80 orphans will have improved livelihood for ever. Thank you very much for that giving heart.
