

Working to free orphans from the cycle of poverty.

What You Can Do To Make A Difference

1. Visit www.nyakaschool.org or thepriceofstones.com for more information, book reviews, our event calendar, and ideas.
2. Become a friend of the Nyaka AIDS Foundation on Facebook—or become Jackson Kaguri's friend there. You can also follow Jackson on Twitter at twitter.com/twejaka.
3. Recommend The Price of Stones to a friend; colleague; book club; women's group; your church, synagogue, or mosque; civic group; Rotary, Elks, or other club; or any group interested in education, literacy, cross-cultural issues, Uganda, HIV/AIDS prevention, or alleviating poverty. Help spread the word-of-mouth by offering to lead a discussion of the book at your house of worship, library, or book club.
4. Check to see if The Price of Stones is in your local library. If not, either donate a copy or suggest to your librarian that the book be added to the collection. Ask your friends or family in other states to do this also. Or check to see if the book is in the library of your church, synagogue, or mosque; if not, donate a copy or recommend the book to your librarian.
5. Encourage your local independent or chain bookstore to carry this book if you don't see it on the shelves.
6. Write a book review about The Price of Stones for Amazon.com, Barnes & Noble, Borders, or a blog. Your comments will help bring awareness to this (or any) book. Share your blog with us so we can share it with others.
7. Ask the book editor of your local newspaper or radio station to consider letting you review the book. Or review the book for the newsletter or website of a civic or religious organization you belong to.
8. If you want to support our efforts to promote education, you can make a tax-deductible contribution to our nonprofit organization. Donate through our website or through The Global Giving Fund at <http://www.globalgiving.org/projects/help-aids-orphans-in-africa/>. Donate once or become a Monthly Sustaining Donor. To give via check, please write to:

Nyaka AIDS Orphans Project

9. Form a Friends of Nyaka Group or join one in your area. Our Friends Groups help spread our message. Learn how you can start your own group in your community or on your college campus by emailing us for more information at info@nyakaschool.org

10. Invite Twesigye Jackson Kaguri to speak at your house of worship, library or civic organization—and bring lots of friends!
11. Volunteer at the Nyaka School or do an internship there. Past volunteers, interns, and mission groups from churches have helped with teaching; tutoring; building and road construction; health education, especially HIV/AIDS prevention; medical care; agriculture; business and marketing; and counseling. Whatever your talents are, you will have the opportunity to serve these children, and you will also have the experience of a lifetime as you learn from them and the community they live in. Read more about past volunteers and volunteer opportunities at <http://nyakaschool.org/volunteerprogram.php>.
12. Knit or crochet a Comfort Doll that will be given to the school's children, to help provide students with psychosocial support, trauma counseling, and bereavement care. For instructions, visit our website at <http://nyakaschool.org/comfort.php>.
13. Your child may want to become a Young Hero for Nyaka. Some Young Heroes have gathered books, collected relatives' pocket change, and dedicated birthday gifts for donation. Read more about our young heroes and heroines on our website at <http://nyakaschool.org/inspiration.php>.
14. Please direct media or book inquiries to info@nyakaschool.org, call (517) 610-7165, or write us at the address above.
