EQUUS

2022 ANNUAL REPORT

KEEPING
HORSES SAFE

The EQUUS Foundation was born from love of the equestrian sport and the critical need to provide care to horses after their sport careers are over. We awarded our first grants in 2003 to seven equine charities based in Connecticut and the metropolitan New York area.

Now in our 20th year, we support hundreds of equine charities nationwide and proud to announce a landmark expansion in the direction of the EQUUS Foundation as not only a grant maker but also an accrediting body with the establishment of the EQUUS Foundation Mentor Accreditation program.

During our 2022 fiscal year that ended in August, we were able to impact the lives of over 6,000 horses through our programs and grant awards. While this represents an increase of over 1,000 horses from 2021, there are still over 20,000 horses being shipped across our borders for slaughter. NONE should be subjected to this inhumane fate - especially because there are solutions within our reach.

The best way to help these horses is to transition them into a new life, role and purpose by providing viable options to owners when their owners cannot, or no longer wish to, care for them. We will be focusing our efforts in 2023 to establish and support local and regional safety net programs, such as hay banks, emergency funds, veterinarian help, gelding clinics, owner-to-owner equine placement services, and end-of-life care, as well as increasing ways to connect horses in transition with individuals and organizations seeking horses. In addition to competitive and recreational programs involving horses, programs providing equine-assisted therapeutic services offer limitless opportunities for careers for horses in transition.

The shortage of skilled labor is affecting all industry including the equine industry. The American Association of Equine Practitioners (AAEP) announced the establishment of commission in July 2022 to develop strategies for recruiting and retaining equine veterinarians. In 2023, to encourage the pursuit of careers in the equine industry, the EQUUS Foundation will award a minimum of $10,000 in scholarships ranging from $500 to $1,000 to students enrolled in undergraduate and graduate equine studies programs at the educational institutions on the EQUUS Foundation Equine Education Network, a unique database of over 400 academic equine programs in addition to over 600 equine athletic programs.

This year, we will publish an analysis of the equine welfare and business practices of our Guardian and Mentor charities including an estimation of the capability needed to accommodate slaughter-bound equines now and in the future to ensure that we are ready should the SAFE ACT pass which will close the borders for horses transported for slaughter. According to the survey conducted by the American Horse Council in August 2022 via social media, when asked whether or not horses should be allowed to cross the border to Mexico and Canada, 59% responded with "No" but 41% responded with "Yes".

We will continue to educate the public on the positive impact of horses through collaborative storytelling and build consensus within the equine industry to embrace solutions for horses in transition other than shipping them across our borders for slaughter. At the core is the need to improve communications -- communication among charities, communication within the equine industry and communication with the public at large.

We deeply appreciate the generosity of the individuals and organizations that support the EQUUS Foundation and hope you will join us to celebrate our 20th Anniversary. It is only through engaging passionate supporters and collaboration that we are able to accomplish our mission.

Thank you.

OUR MISSION

The EQUUS Foundation is the only national animal welfare charity and accrediting body in the United States 100% dedicated to protecting America's horses from peril and strengthening the bond between horses and people.

OUR VISION

- Horses involved in any role and in any capacity - as athletes, companions, laborers, teachers and healers - are valued as partners and not treated as commodities.
- Horses transition from one chapter to the next without risk of abuse, neglect and slaughter.
- Horses live in comfort and with dignity throughout their lives.
- When the times comes, horses experience a peaceful and humane end of life.

Finding Common Ground

Engaging stakeholders as leaders and advocates and partnering with individuals and organizations to improve the way horses are treated and perceived

WINNERS CIRCLE

Teddy, a 14-year-old Standardbred, was tagged for meat and destined for slaughter when Cheryl Olsten learned of his plight. Without hesitation, Olsten, the owner of Lafitte De Muze, the EQUUS Foundation's first Equine Ambassador, posted his bail, and there began Teddy's recovery. Olsten has provided funds to cover bail, quarantine, transportation, and the like, for many horses, but this time it was different. Olsten decided to adopt Teddy to learn firsthand what was involved with accepting responsibility for a horse so shamefully broken.
