

AAS Burkina in action :

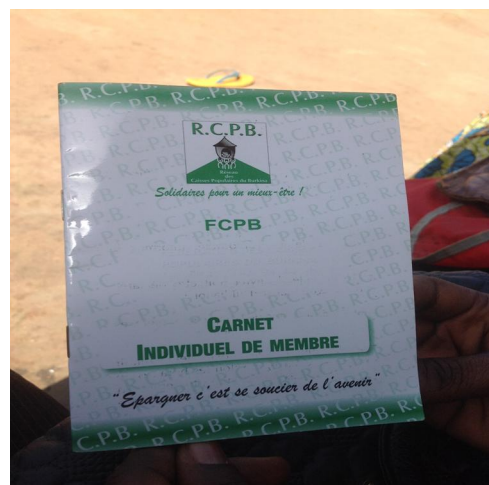

'Building on evidence for greater impact', an innovative strategy for the empowerment of vulnerable families in the context of HIV/AIDS:

AAS Burkina, through an approach focused on the family for the empowerment of vulnerable families in the context of HIV/AIDS in Ouagadougou. This program of AAS, upstream of the grant of the costs of health, education and nutrition, grants a background to families, through a savings account opened in their name, to carry out income-generating activities (AGR). Then, AAS strengthens the capacity of management of families through close monitoring. Tracking the movements in the savings book is an essential element of the AGR rating.

Tuesday, November 12, 2013, AAS made a follow-up to the AGR output z. Here below a few successful and encouraging examples:

Widow with 5 children bought with funds donkey to transport materials and crops to communities for a payment in cash or in kind

The Savings Book a beneficiary of the project

This widow has also made a network of sellers to traditional beer which she delivers every three days

This father through the fund, because of the hog that market pretty well
