

¡Rural Community Center for Peace in Colombia!

Thanks to all of you, the community of Vallecito will soon have its own multicultural center !!!

On December 3, 2015, he conducted one of the most interesting and rewarding activities that have taken place in recent months in the community Vallecito, San Pablo, Bolívar. A group of young people from the capital, Bogota, more exactly the Javeriana University, They decided in their academic, theoretical and practical training at the hands of their teachers and with the help of SERVIVIENDA Foundation framework in the process of Regionalization; generating from 2013, between the social works of the Society of Jesus, whose main objective "Accompany (from deep Ignatian sense) community dynamics of enforcement of rights and accountability to transform living conditions".

All these exchanges of knowledge and particular knowledge, were reflected with some particular activities 10 architecture students from the hand of our social worker Johanna Rojas, who has been working in the village of Vallecito those we utiltimos two years in strengthening the reconstruction of the social fabric, improving the living and health, access to basic and drinking water sanitation, job creation and income and the peaceful coexistence of all families of Rural quality of life for peace construction- Pilot Vallecito, San Pablo, Bolívar, who they have been direct and indirect victims of the armed conflict afflicting Colombia for the last 60 years.

Visit the village of Vallecito, San Pablo, Bolívar

Johanna has never been an impediment having to take several hours to different transports to get to meet all the inhabitants of this Rural quality of life for peace, because they always welcome you with open arms, as they did the day they arrived these young people full of expectations despite the short time they were able to help realize the dreams humado architecturally with great sense and a planning own territory, allowing generation of ownership by its own inhabitants and visitors.

Workshop student's community

The workshops that took place were truly rewarding due to not only the community take advantage of the knowledge of these young people were based on: the use of natural resources, good environmental practices and the idea of new design Multicultural Center which is economical and environmentally friendly. Meanwhile, college students, endless knowledge and experience to apply in their daily lives as professionals and individuals seeking an equitable society took

In the name of Johanna Rojas, the SERVIVIENDA Foundation and all architecture students who participated in this activity responsibility to the community, we thank our donors for allowing us not only to build the Community Multicultural Center but also spread the intervention model "Rural quality of life for peace construction" for its replication in other vulnerable areas facing post -conflict in Colombia.

THANK YOU!
