Tutoring Homeless Children Since 1993

ANNUAL REPORT 2014

Tutor, Eileen McAndrews, with her 1st grade student at SHIELDS for Families

OUR MISSION & HISTORY

Our History

School on Wheels was founded in 1993 by Agnes Stevens, a retired schoolteacher, who understood the importance of education to homeless students – and the unique challenges they face. We were then, and we remain, the only organization in Southern California dedicated exclusively to the educational needs of this fragile population.

A message from President of the Board, Joshua Fein

I am deeply honored to be the current Board Chair of School on Wheels. 2014 was another fantastic year. We exceeded our goals in both numbers of students tutored and volunteer hours while continuing to expand awareness of the plight of the children we serve. School on Wheels' tutors spent tens of thousands of hours this year teaching subjects, encouraging learning, and providing stability and hope during a most difficult time in our students' lives.

School on Wheels changes the outcome of many lives. Our positive impact goes beyond families without homes; it extends to our society as a whole. Simply put, a more educated person is a more successful person. I want to thank all of those involved with School on Wheels, including our generous donors, gracious volunteers, and our tremendous staff and Board. It is you and your inspirational commitment to supporting the education of homeless children that creates a path to a brighter future.

Your continued commitment and support is vital to the lives of our students. The education of these homeless children will create a brighter future for us all.

Joshua Fein
President of the Board

Our Mission

We are committed to the enhancement of educational opportunities for homeless children from kindergarten through twelfth grade. Our goal is to shrink the gaps in their education and provide them with the highest level of education possible. Our program serves as a consistent support system to homeless students at a time of great stress and fear. We bring the message to our students that they are cared about and important.

"I challenge every person to do something in their community until there is no homeless child living on the streets, in a car, in a hotel, or in shelters."

- Agnes Stevens, Founder of School on Wheels

OUR BEST YEAR YET

Dear Friends,

I am happy to report that, although this year was not without sadness, School on Wheels reached our most ambitious and challenging goal - doubling the number of homeless students we tutor to over 3,100! This was only accomplished because of your support, generosity, time and shared belief in our mission: to make educational success a reality for homeless children.

We lost our beloved Founder, Agnes Stevens, in February. Agnes was a visionary, an inspiration and a dear friend. She loved that we were helping so many kids supported by our growing number of volunteers, donors and partners. Her life was one of hope, of belief, of persistence and trust. She trusted us to continue her legacy - and we will.

In Agnes' honor, we are creating the Founder's Pledge. Please join us in pledging one hour a week to tutor a homeless child or pledge to raise $100 from 10 individuals. Although changing the world is seemingly impossible, changing the life of one homeless child is something you can definitely do. We know this. Read about Nicole and her tutor Marcia's relationship, and 3rd grader Xavier's progress on page 7.

Our new 3 year Strategic Plan, outlined on page 4, focuses on growth - the number of homeless children in just the school districts we serve has reached an all-time high of 163,435. To support our students educationally, we also need to prepare them for the digital world and encourage the development of grit, resilience, and effective stress management. And we are committed to becoming the Gold Standard of volunteer organizations - training, motivating, recognizing and appreciating our volunteers who are the heart of what we do.

We are living in times of negative discourse, inequitable economic progress, failing schools and soaring child and family homelessness. At a time of great anxiety and fear, School on Wheels continues to provide hope to our most vulnerable children. We are only able to pursue our goals and dreams because of you - our partners. Help us stay strong as we continue enhancing educational opportunities for homeless children and providing them with a chance at a bright future.

With deep appreciation,

Catherine Meek

Catherine Meek, Executive Director

"Working with the girls at the group home has taught me the value of just one person believing in someone else, and how mutually rewarding that relationship can be."

- Christina Crittenden, Occidental College Class of 2015

Looking Ahead to 2017

Our new strategic plan builds on what we accomplished during the past three years to create a stronger and more hopeful future for our students. By the end of 2017, we plan to:

- Increase the number of students we tutor to 4,000
- Increase the number of volunteers to 3,100 with enhanced support
- Integrate digital learning fully, giving all of our students access to technology

These are ambitious goals, as we believe they must be. We are incredibly grateful for your partnership, and we look forward to continuing our work together as we strive to educate the most vulnerable children in our communities. Together, we are changing lives.

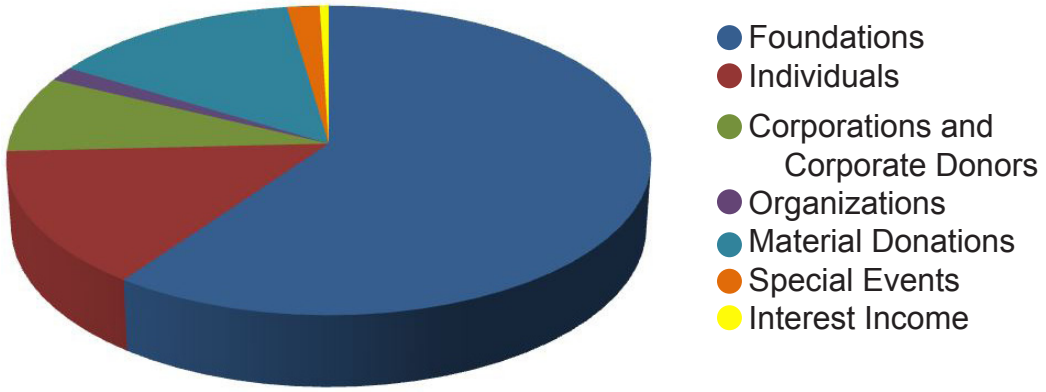

"100% of students believe having a School on Wheels tutor has helped them in school."

"How can you not support School on Wheels? Participating in helping kids get a fair chance to succeed and contribute to the world is a gift itself!"

- Steve Edwards, TV Host, Good Day LA

STAR STUDENTS AND TUTORS

Lyann (4th grade) is originally from Belize and talks about the country and her family there often. Lyann struggles with reading and has some difficulties hearing. Even with these challenges and frustrations, her attitude is amazing and she never (ok, rarely) gives up. She truly likes school. Her favorite subjects are math and art.

- Nancy Dobbs Owen, Tutor

"Sheena, did you see my grades online? I got a 16/14 on my history quiz!" Receiving text messages like this is what makes me look forward to tutoring Omar (7th grade) every week. He has demonstrated A's and B's in all his classes and is great at setting his exam study schedules. The time I get to spend with Omar is an absolute pleasure!

- Sheena Singh, Tutor

Brenda (8th grade) walks into our sessions bouncing and chattering, even after a full day of school! What I have come to love most about being a tutor is the familiarity that builds between student and tutor over time and the consistency that lends to a more natural, free and truly fun learning environment for both parties involved.

- Mary Schuberg, Tutor

At our introductory meeting Nicole (3rd grade) and I pointed at one another shrieking, "I KNOW YOU!!" (we had met at another shelter that summer). Nicole was faced with starting a new school (again) and expressed an indifference that was part of having gone through the experience more than once. At tutoring sessions, our goal is to get homework done so there will be time for fun stuff! I'm also very, very proud and excited for her wonderful mother, Tanya, who has recently earned her GED. – Marcia Rothman, Tutor

Xavier, (3rd Grade) has shown an incredible amount of progress since he arrived at the shelter. Initially, he seemed hesitant about tutoring. We realized that he was embarrassed that he couldn't read yet. Two months later, I was so happy to see that he was slowly reading his own book… and he was smiling!

- Lilian Pahn, Regional Coordinator

Natalie (3rd Grade) has a tenacious quest for learning that is a rare quality. On her first tutoring day she said, 'Can I tell you something?' I stopped and looked into her big brown eyes and she said, 'I've never passed a math test. I'm not smart.' We spent the next 15 minutes talking about the difference between 'not being smart' and 'not learning concepts.'"

- Karen McCarthy, Tutor

"Luka (3rd Grade) is super smart and passionate. He is so eager to learn and my job seems to be giving him the confidence to realize this. I love seeing the world through his eyes. I only hope he is learning as much from me as I am from him."

- Terri Czapleski, Tutor

"I decided to volunteer because I wanted to give back to others. Education is such a powerful tool to a better life. It goes hand-in-hand with mentorship; people who educate also support and encourage. I wanted to be a part of this process, knowing full well that I am making a long-term investment in a homeless student's future."

- Andrew Park, Tutor, Long Beach

"I loved school when I was a child. For me it was an escape from an unfortunate home life, much like the situations that our students have. I became a tutor because I like to see "the lights go on" for a student...being there for the moment a student understands a new concept and makes a connection to the excitement of learning."

- Gwen Roberts, Tutor, Los Angeles

"After graduating from the University of California, Irvine, I found myself in search of ways to give back to the community. I googled 'tutoring opportunities' and stumbled across School on Wheels. To my surprise it was exactly what I was looking for!"

- Marshae Franklin, Tutor, South Los Angeles

"My parents have always stressed the importance of education to me; so, naturally I grew up with a passion for learning. While searching for volunteer opportunities I discovered School on Wheels and when I read the mission I knew it was an organization I wanted to be a part of."

-Sarah Gonzalez, Tutor Coordinator, Whittier

"Volunteering has changed my life. It has allowed me to find more compassion in my heart for others, helped me grow as a student and continues to challenge me in my commitment to helping my community."

- Keegan Farrell, Tutor, Highland Park

"What I like best about tutoring is that I get to be a constant in a child's life that is so filled with uncertainty. I love teaching, and to have the time to work one-on-one with a child every week is wonderful."

-Elisabeth Egelko, Tutor, Ventura
