Providing home delivered, nutritious meals and making a difference in the lives of people we serve.

Who We Are

Project Chicken Soup (PCS) is a non-profit organization that prepares and delivers free, nutritious, kosher meals to people in the Los Angeles area living with HIV/AIDS, cancer and other serious illnesses who, due to their illness are unable to prepare or obtain meals for themselves. Our services are provided with love and compassion to all persons, regardless of faith or religious belief. We currently prepare and deliver meals to 125 clients, providing each client with 20 meals per month. Our Executive Director is the only paid administrative staff. 1,500 dedicated volunteers annually accomplish our mission, preparing and delivering over 30,000 meals.

Community Work

In addition to providing nutritious meals to clients, PCS offers information and referral services to prospective and enrolled clients and works with community partners to implement long term solutions to illness, hunger and poverty. We have received numerous awards and community recognition for our work.

Food as Medicine

We've known anecdotally for many years the importance of nutritious food and the role it plays in improved health by helping to absorb medications and delaying or preventing the progression to later stage disease. Rigorous scientific studies have now been completed and documented showing that malnourished patients are at greater risk of medical complications, have longer hospital stays and incur higher daily hospital costs. Food is medicine, and needs to be considered a critical component in the treatment of illness.
