● Who Would Benefit as a Student?

We encourage you to apply if

- Your English is already intermediate level or better.
- You want to use your mind and your skills to work for personal growth and for the good of everyone.
- You love learning, especially in the company of others.
- You are committed to doing the work necessary to learn English well.
- You are adaptable and have lots of energy.

The SENS program seeks students who are committed to working for the larger good, who are able to listen attentively to others, and who can think independently. We extend a special invitation to English and other teachers with an interest in new methods, especially how we combine language skills training with encouragement of personal growth and social and ecological awareness.

We welcome students from any country, regardless of age, occupation, and social or religious status. (But minimum age is 18!) We are happy to accept laypeople as well as those who have chosen a religious vocation. We aim to form a diverse cohort of students who identify with Buddhism, Christianity, Islam, Hinduism, Judaism, or an indigenous tradition—or who follow secular or other forms of self-cultivation, ethical orientation, and spiritual practice.

We encourage you to apply even if you do not have the funds to pay for the program. Priority given to applications received by November 5th, 2025.

Places open for up to 18 students.

- You like people and are highly conscientious and responsible.

Building Community from the Ground up - Share the Joy of Learning and Working Together

War broke out in Europe in 2022, and in the Middle East in 2023. Evidence of the climate crisis continues to mount: heat waves, wildfires, floods, and the extinction of species. The world has become more unequal, and those preaching hatred and the dominance of one group over another have become louder and entered more governments.

In the midst of this can we still live beautiful and meaningful lives? Yes! Never were the possibilities greater. But how will we do that? One step is to live a life that responds meaningfully, that works to resolve these problems rather than merely seeking a place of personal comfort. Another simple but powerful step is to bridge the gaps that exist between us, whether they be generation or wealth gaps, the gaps created by racism, sexism, Islamophobia or by any exclusion of those who live or believe differently.

The wisest among us—spiritual leaders, writers, artists, historians, activists, and others—have seen the underlying unity of all humans and cherished the web of existence that binds us. By joining SENS 2026, you can be part of “Building Community from the Ground Up” for everyone, practicing caring for each other and sustaining life in all its forms. The challenges are at the planetary scale, and this is yet another reason that we need each other. Let us learn together how to accept and then take on the global situation we face, each in our own way. Let us rediscover the joy of learning and working together. Strengthening our ability to communicate in English, learning to listen with genuine attention, and growing in our understanding of the contemporary social and ecological world can be small parts of a bigger solution. This is what we intend in SENS 2026.

● What Participants Say about SENS

Before this program, whenever I wanted to contribute to my society I felt I was useless and not intelligent. Now I feel I can do anything for myself and my society if I trust my intelligence and ability.

Before this program, I didn't feel it's fun to learn English but thanks to you now I really enjoy learning English and other topics. ... Thanks to you, I can say my real feelings and say “No” more often and I'm not afraid of making a mistake. I learned from you about how to care for others, how to study, and how to have a good relationship. You also encouraged me a lot. This is my greatest pleasure, to meet all of you. Thank you so much.

Tomoyo Ikeda ~ Japan

One of the best lessons that I learnt from this program is Co-Counseling. It gave me a safe space to cry as much as I wanted and laugh as well. It is important to heal our memories to see the way forward. Now I am willing to be a good listener to support people who want to share their feelings and painful memories. It is very useful in real life, and I will keep learning to apply it.

When I first came to this program, everyone welcomed me warmly and I started seeing things differently. When I made mistakes, everyone applauded and encouraged me to keep going. When I shared my challenging experiences, everyone listened to me with care and full attention.

Hta Mu ~ Karen State, Myanmar

When I came to SENS as a student, I felt as if I entered a new world. Here we discuss about various topics with freedom of speech: inequality, poverty, the ecological crisis, Co-Counseling, as well as sharing and listening to each other.

Sharing and listening are very important. Because now they are very rare in our world. If we create a comfortable space for sharing it will help both people. When we listen to others as a human, as a friend, we will develop our love and patience. When we share something, we will be free, and we will have more clarity about our problems. So please make space for listening to others. Please use the opportunity.

Maneesh Syamala Soman ~ Kerala, India

One thing I loved was learning English by experiencing and immersing myself in it. I loved the many games and discussions we had in class. In field trips, we also met inspiring leaders in Buddhism and social activists. I loved the reflection assignments after field trips and movies. It gave me the chance to appreciate life and others, and it was effective for reviewing the lessons I could draw.

SENS gave me the peaceful and lovely environment I needed to get out of my apathy towards all the violence, social inequality, and divisions in the world. I faced many fears in a safe and supportive space. I now see more clearly how I am—how all of us are—inter-connected with each other and with these problems!

Dinh Thi Thuy Linh ~ Vietnam
