Student feedback at school

	The program is useful	Are you ready to introduce the program to other friends?	Will you share what you have learned with your siblings?	Do you think the trainers are easy to understand?	Do you think that training approach captures your attention?	Are you satisfied with the training?	Do you agree to propose similar training program to the ministry of education so that more of your peers will learn about what you have learned?	I think this way of learning about sex-related issues is more effective than the one that is integrated into the formal subjects.
