Mycorrhization of pine fungi in Vivero Huasquillay

Donate trees to help impoverished families in Peru

Dear Donors

We are very grateful for your continuous support to the families of Omacha, your contribution is extremely valuable, we want to tell you that we continue to take care of COVID-19, we do not lower our guard.

We are taking care of our plants in the nurseries, working with the fungal mycorrhizae, thinking about our future, to improve our diet and also sell them, the fungi appear in the largest trees when the rainy season arrives. The families have been receiving training on the construction of dryers, to optimize efforts they must be prepared.

The Huasquillay community has worked hard in their nurseries, taking care of them every day. They have incorporated strawberry cultivation for their productive businesses, and on raising guinea pigs, they want to be prosperous.

For the larger trees they have received training on pruning and thinning, which is very important for their growth and production of high quality wood and especially for CO2 capture.

We are waiting for the start of the rains in November for the November 2021-March 2022 forest campaign.

We maintain confidence in the organizational and associative potential of families for the good of their communities, we continue working for the good of ourselves and the region,

Here are some photos of our day to day with the families of Omacha.
