TIJARA CRAFT is a social enterprise venture that began in 2011 as the 'Ajivika Craft Centre' (ACC) project working on rural women's livelihood in twenty villages of Tijara Block of Alwar District in Rajasthan. The craft is based on recycling of used clothes that still have appeal and worthiness into geometric, floral designs to renew the value of cloth. The floor spreads and items of home décor are supported by design and training elements to add to the range of products using the craft
