Project: Autism's Got Talent

The Autism's Got Talent event is an annual and recognises that ability and will showcase the performing talents of a whole host of talent. Describing the event Anna Kennedy said. "This is a great opportunity for those with autism to get up on stage and really show what they can do. So often society views these people as difficult and uncommunicative, but this event will really dispel that myth with some fantastic talent on display." Autism's Got Talent provides a platform and great opportunity to replace negative aspects with hope, fun, laughter and inclusion.

This showcase is unique to any other projects across the world. Most of the acts have spring boarded into exclusive opportunities and the audience feel a rare emotion of hope and belonging and part of a unique network and understanding that anything is possible.

In previous years there has been a stand-up performer, harpist, rappers, young author, acclaimed ballet dancer, opera singers as well as a bone breaker, who is now the face of Calvin Klein. Talent entries were totally mind blowing and Anna Kennedy Online have included acts from overseas Sweden, Croatia, US, Canada and across the UK.

Costs of the initiative project

£15,000 Total
£10,000 - Fee for Mermaid Theatre in London Blackfriars
£3,500 - Performers
£500 - Food and Beverages
£1,000 - Media

Although this project It received mass media attention, it requires so much funding that as a small charity we struggle with more than 500,000 people diagnosed with autism in the UK it is easy to simply label these people. The Autism's Got Talent event is one of the ways of recognising that ability and will showcase the performing talents of a whole host of talent.

Autisms Got Talent is a star studded spectacular event will showcase amazingly talented performances by adults and children with autism. The performers, which will consist of singers, actors, musicians, and dance troupes, will fly the flag for autism and show what people with autism and Asperger's syndrome are capable of. Autism's Got Talent, which is an annual event, is growing in popularity each year, and 2018 has firmly cemented its status as a leading charity and autism event.
