

SeeBeyondBorders Report for Global Giving

Everyday, parents across Cambodia have to decide whether to send their child to school or to work. Many children work in the fields to ensure that their family has enough income to survive. These children miss many school days or do not attend school at all. Thom's family do not have to make this choice thanks to SeeBeyondBorders' Conditional Cash Payment Programme. Thom is a child who lives in the Angkor Thom District of Siem Reap, Cambodia. Thom is in grade four in public school and his family are supported thanks to our Conditional Cash Payment Programme.

SeeBeyondBorders' Conditional Cash Payment Programme provides financial support to families of lower-income. Small cash payments are made to the families, conditional on their children attending school regularly. This helps to relieve some financial pressure, so that children like Thom can stay in school. Thanks to our recent crowdfunding campaign on GlobalGiving we raised $6,864 from 105 donations. We are providing financial support to 32 lower-income families in the Angkor Thom District. This support is a lifeline to families, providing small payments conditional on attendance. We also provide bikes as a means for children to get to school. In short we do everything to make it possible for families to prioritise their child's education as a viable option.

In conjunction with the CCP Programme, we work with teachers to ensure there is quality education in the schools in Angkor Thom, so that children can be engaged in high quality lessons and stay in school and continue learning. We are certain that a good quality education will lead to brighter futures for children like Thom, giving families a variety of opportunities to escape poverty and contribute to transforming their communities in future.
