

ACHIEVEMENTS 2024

April 2023 saw the onset of appalling violence in the very capital of Sudan, Khartoum, between the two armed forces which had seized power and unleashed violence on the streets of Khartoum, with no regard for the civilian population. Those who could, fled the country, as the conflict spread across the whole of Sudan. Nowhere has the violence been worse than in Darfur, and now starvation and disease face people desperately in need of help.

Malnutrition has spread across the whole of Darfur.

It is now the epicentre of the world's worst hunger crisis, (UN General Assembly, September 2024.) At times it seemed as if, like all other aid agencies, it would be impossible for us to provide help. The banks across Sudan remain closed. Without money how could we do anything at all?

Incredibly we have found a way to send funds safely directly to the members of the Kids for Kids Steering Committee so that they can travel to markets, as they start functioning again, to purchase urgently needed pulses, groundnuts, lentils, ground beef, chicken and fresh produce, plus watermelon, tomato and okra seeds, to feed all the children aged 5 and under in our villages.

We have already reached 49 of our 110 communities. To date we have provided our Kitchen Kits to an astonishing 8,540 children. Your support has enabled Kids for Kids to achieve what many believed impossible. We have beaten the odds to deliver life-saving aid to the forgotten communities of Darfur.

But Kids for Kids is not an emergency organisation – our aim has always been to provide sustainable support, providing projects, and training communities, so that they can improve their own lives long term. Our villages are now the most stable in Darfur. People are taking refuge in them, many making their homes there permanently, because of what they offer.

These families too need our help. We have already provided our basic projects to 35 families who have moved to Um Ga'al, the first village we adopted in 2001, to enable them to be integrated into the communities. It is heartbreaking to think of people fleeing their homes in the wake of violence and arriving with nothing. Yet every family in Darfur is struggling. Their generosity to each other is humbling but if they are to rebuild their lives, we must do all we can to lift them out of poverty. The needs are huge. We are providing for the immediate emergency to address serious malnutrition, especially in the smallest children, but we are also doing all we can to provide medicines for both people and for the animals.

We must look to the future as well as for immediate needs

Our amazing volunteers in Darfur have made this possible, despite their own worries for their families. Their dedication, compassion, and tireless efforts have enabled us to provide help where there has been none. They, like us, are determined to do their best for children born into a nation at war.

Kids for Kids has never needed your help more. Regular Supporters are the key to enabling us to plan ahead, and especially the three-year commitment of our Children's Champions. Please will you consider becoming a Children's Champion or Regular Supporter?

Your support will help us to change the lives of children for life.
