PROJECT DEVELOPMENT

INTRODUCTION: Violence is a phenomena which affects and set up human relationships from unequal power perspective. In this violence is clear how domination, exclusion and abuse are represented as the main aspects. The Patronato María Auxiliadora Foundation in compliance with its essential social object has identify several mistreatment situations against children and women in general. These situations have become habitual in their contextual lives. Additionally, those relations are framed by the patriarchal structure which cause exclusion, domination and otherness.

Violence is a negative issue that is expressed in varied ways: physical, psychological, economic among others. However, during accompanying and addressing time family networks has recognized in their narratives some types of violence which has become natural on their lives. Due this they are still acting as passive victims of a kind of violence they are not able to name it.

This project started from the need of continuing the treatment against violence in order to reduce its damage and negative effects. Additionally, the project is seeking to empower women as agents of change about male chauvinism and the patriarchal culture as the source of inequality, poverty, exclusion, and to make a transformation on the language that reproduce and perpetuate violence. Thus, the foundation seeks a paradigm educational transformation so that they can avoid sources of violence.

DIRECT TARGET POPULATION: the project's direct target population are 30 women between 20 and 45 years. Additionally, there are 30 girls, boys and adolescents between 7 and 15 years (80% girls and adolescents and 20% boys and adolescents) they all belong to the urban area in Medellin City, located at districts 1, 3, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 13. The project does not focus on only one neighborhood. To accomplish this task of selecting women to be beneficiary, the Patronato foundation with the help of alliance institutions has identify which of them are under a kind of violence or in risk to suffer it.

INDIRECT TARGET POPULATION: Among indirect target population there are 90 people which made up the family nucleus. Similarly, one of our purposes is to impact around 100 people and make them receptors of our proposals on preventing and self-protection focus on, and based on a community approach. These proposals are design by girls, adolescents and women who participate actively at the project. In addition, it is predicted an impact on Foundation's social networks of at least 200 people reached from people who participated on the program previously.

MAIN AIM: To contribute to eliminate any kind or way of violence against women, girls, and adolescents.

SUBSIDIARY AIMS:

- To enhance women's abilities, their son and daughters so that they can improve in their emotional issues through an interventional and preventive model which uses the comprehensive speech analysis and art therapy and photography.
- To develop educational training that allow people able to recognize, denounce and activate guidelines routes in order to prevent violence against women and infancy.
- To promote reflexive encounters that allow women understand and break out with chauvinist mental structures through photograph and social networks workshops.
- To design proposals in order to prevent and enhance self-protection based on a community approach.

SDO COORDINATION:

Based on the sustainable development objectives framework, we aim to the goal 2: Health and well-being regarding to these, mental health of girls, women and adolescents' project points out to provide therapeutic support and the psychosocial accompany in order to cover emotional difficulties and mitigate damages caused from different ways of violence experienced throughout life.

Similarly, the project is committed to allow girls and adolescents to recognize their potential in assuming self-protective behavior against different ways of violence, situations that make be on risk and manifestation of sexual abuse and harassment, commercial sexual exploitation, adolescent pregnancy, identification of supportive routes, people, platforms and safe ways to protect themselves.

It also seeks to contribute to Goal 5: To Achieve gender equality and empower all women and girls. Thus, pointing out on the mitigation of the damage and risk generated by the different forms of violence and mistreatment against women, empowering, listening, allowing them to experience, explore and re-signify the multiple meaningful experiences as a way of transformation of the imaginaries that perpetuate situations of inequality in their daily life.

OUTCOMES:

- 1) Women in Company of their sons and daughters have improved meaningfully on their emotional alterations.
- 2) Girls and adolescents can recognize what gender equality means. Their rights, self-protection mechanisms and the guidelines to report any criminal activity in connection with gender.
- 3) Women who have participated now are putting into practice security and self-protecting strategies through different devices such as smartphones and social networks.
- 4) Women have break out with a vicious circles of violence.

ACTIVITIES AND WORK METHODOLOGY:

The therapeutic attention is given to women and their children who have lived and experienced situations of violence through individual and group care with elements of art therapy. Individual intervention is proposed from a humanistic and cognitive approach that allows to work on the adjustment areas of women, their recognition as valuable people and their projection as subjects of rights. The project focuses on women. However, if a situations of violence against the children of women is identified, they then will be fully intervened.
