and be the foundation to building the love and unity our community needs. Working together, side by side, promotes understanding and self-reliance. Thank you for joining us as we build strong, stable and self-reliant communities!

A donation that is meaningful to your organization would provide the opportunity to volunteer and engage with the Habitat homeowner on the construction site.

Meet the Miranda Family

Mary has been a customer-service representative for TXTag for more than four years, and despite her hard work, she has not been able to afford more than a small apartment for herself, her two children and her aging parents. This hardworking mom loves living in Austin and being surrounded by her friends and family, and has stepped gracefully into this provider role but also recognizes that the cost of living in the area is holding her family back from fulfilling all of their dreams and aspirations. The family currently lives in a small apartment originally rented by Mary's parents several years ago, dealing with cramped conditions, high rent and no outdoor access for her kids. Mary is particularly focused on a wellness-enhancing home for her family because her 11-year-old son recently survived a battle with cancer and still requires frequent doctor visits.

She thanks Austin Habitat and all of the Build for Unity sponsors for their good hearts in supporting her dreams of home, and is thankful to these supporters for bringing light and hope into her life!
