WHAT IS MANOS ABIERTAS

We are an organization that works so that people in situations of vulnerability can live, grow and age with dignity.

We do this through educational, health and social promotion programs that materialize in homes, palliative care centers, educational centers, mental health centers and trade workshops.

In Argentina, we have offices in 10 cities in 9 provinces and in the city of Buenos Aires carrying out 70 projects, benefiting 9000 people.

In the Buenos Aires Delegation, we have 10 projects, thanks to the support of more than 500 volunteers, 2500 individual donors, and 150 institutions, foundations and government agencies.

LOCATIONS

Our offices in the country are located in Jujuy, Salta, Córdoba, Chaco, Santa Fe, Concordia, Buenos Aires, Mar del Plata, San Juan and Neuquén.

Centro Educativo San Ignacio

The San Ignacio Educational Center (CESI) seeks to generate, facilitate and sustain spaces of formation and integral education, respecting the culture of our community and impregnating it with attitudes of Love and Service.

It takes place in its own headquarters located in Eva Perón 5140, Villa de Mayo, Buenos Aires Province and provides primary and secondary school support, artistic workshops and integral support to the family.

Beneficiaries

150 children and young people from public, primary and secondary schools participate in the program, who, in turn, attend the center from Monday to Friday.

Objectives

To support and promote integrally the schooling and education of the student with the active participation of parents.

To develop education programs through different projects: school support, educational scholarships and cultural and formative workshops.

Different programs are developed in the Educational Center:

- Santa Teresita primary and secondary school support

Santa Teresita School Support

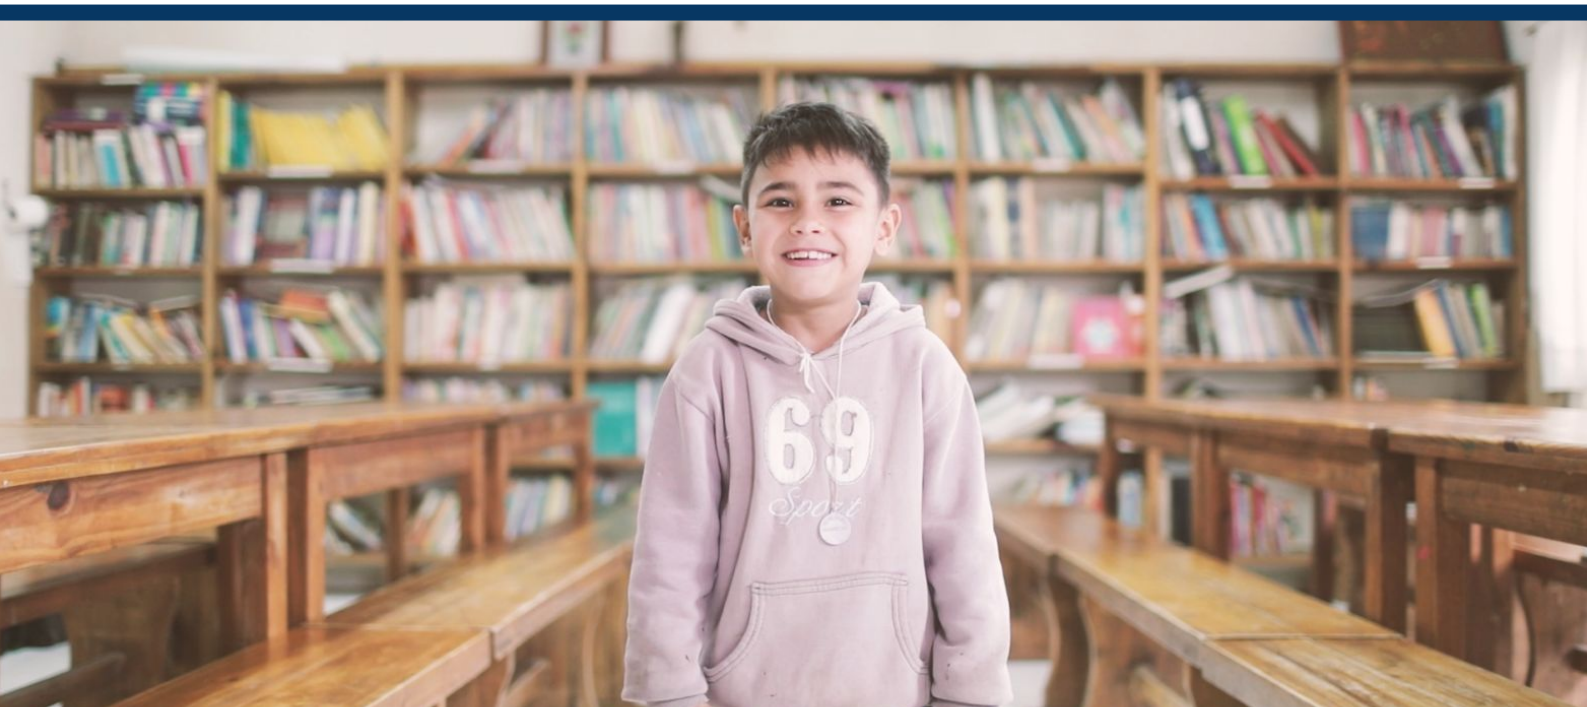

Objective. It seeks to facilitate and accompany the school process of the child and his/her family by promoting values such as dialogue, respect, tolerance and diversity. Its objective is to promote educational inclusion in the face of situations of social inequality.

Beneficiaries. School support is aimed at children and young people from public, primary and secondary schools who, in turn, attend CESI from Monday to Friday.

About the program. Classes are offered to primary (first and second cycle) and secondary students to complement the formal education that is insufficient to acquire the necessary knowledge for good school performance and personal development.

The first cycle group emphasizes literacy skills. In the second cycle of the primary level the axes are language, mathematics, computer science, art, recreation and values. At the secondary level, the focus is on teacher tutorial support for the consolidation of study habits and socialization in values for coexistence, which aims more than anything to achieve continuity and completion of studies.

In addition, children and youth share a breakfast or snack, as appropriate, provided by CESI.

Familia Educadora

Objective. Strengthen in values the educational role of parents, favoring the parent-child bond.

Consolidating the family is the most dignified and effective way to collaborate with the social inclusion of those who are the present and future of our country. That is why we developed the Educating Family program, which works to strengthen the educational role of parents of vulnerable families, and strengthen their internal ties and with the different actors of the community to which they belong.

- Creation of a social network that collaborates with the development of the most needy families in the area. The program seeks to involve the target families with local community organizations, formal and non-formal educational institutions, Fundation Manos Abiertas and CESI, and the local community.
