SUMMARY OF PROGRESS

Self-awareness and self-confidence have encouraged her to take on active roles in group activities and the school community.

During the period from February to May 2024, our initiative to support 360 children with disabilities in Tavush province successfully extended its reach to include 120 vulnerable children from Artsakh (Nagorno-Karabakh). We are deeply grateful for the generosity of our donors and GlobalGiving, whose support has been crucial in maintaining our services for these children. We extend our sincere thanks to all donors and GlobalGiving for their steadfast commitment to our mission.

The comprehensive services provided to children with disabilities, including physical and psychological therapies, as well as various forms of art therapy, have significantly supported their inclusion in communities, schools, and kindergartens. This increased participation has not only boosted their confidence but also promoted a sense of belonging within the school community. Many children who previously struggled with isolation and anxiety are now actively participating in classroom activities and social gatherings.

When Anna first joined our program, her world felt small and lonely. But with the love and support of our project, Anna discovered a newfound sense of belonging among friends who embraced her just as she is. Her confidence grew, so did her circle of friends. With their encouragement, laughed, and played, feeling the warmth of true friendship. Anna's story is a testament to the power of inclusion and compassion.

With your support, we can create more stories like Anna's, where every child feels valued and cherished.
