Project title:

Provide Microscope for Malaria Testing in Sudan.

Project summary:

This project buys two Microscopes for testing malaria at local Loheru healthcare post located in Omilling Boma – southern Sudan. Loheru is the main health post in milling marginalized community.

Project need and Beneficiaries:

We urgently need two microscopes so patients can be tested locally for malaria. At the moment, there are no testing facilities, and malaria treatments are given out to 10,000 patients per year who shows symptoms of malaria even though they may be suffering from some other. Having the microscope will enable people being treated with right medicines after testing.

Project activities:

Testing patients who show symptoms of malaria and other diseases.

Donation Values:

$10 – contributes in buying 1 microscope

$50 – contributes in buying 1 microscope

$2625 – buys two set of microscopes

Project Budget:

$2625

Potential long - term impact:

The long term impact will be the improvement of the health post facilities and also the increased knowledge of local health care workers who will be trained by HOPE OFIRIHA locally in safe motherhood practices so they can serve their communities for the long term.

Quote:

Why does Hope Ofiriha work in Omilling Sudan? – We continue because marginalization continues, we continue because we cannot turn a blind eye to the escalating suffering of women, we continue because there is no one else.
