NATIONAL GIRL CHILD DAY

The National Girl Child Day is celebrated in India every year on January 24th. It was initiated in 2008 by the Ministry of Women and Child Development and the Government of India, in order to spread public awareness about inequities that girls face in Indian society.

Educating a girl is like educating an entire family. More than that, the idea that she can have a chance to lead a healthier and happier life is our inspiration. An educated girl child has the skills, knowledge and poise that are required to be a better parent, citizen, worker or anything else she dreams of becoming. We have always focused on girl child education with 48% of our entire student base being girls.

We are proud to say that, we have all girl's school in Parola Village of Udaipur District, Rajasthan. This is an accomplishment in its own, as the village, has never before supported sending their daughter to school.
