MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR, CORINNE PIERRE-LOUIS

Dear members,

At Amigos de San Cristóbal A.C., we say goodbye to the year 2019 convinced more than ever of the importance of every step we take towards the achievement of our goal. We appreciate your collaboration in our project and we are grateful for your support to the people and organizations that work with us.

Our Community Foundation underwent several changes in 2019: Kate Hart Waters and Susana Morán joined our Board of Directors in January and August, respectively, and have since been very helpful in gearing us up for the new direction we are taking; in October, Katya Becerra joined the Operational Team as Fundraiser; and in June, with great enthusiasm, I became the Director of Amigos de San Cristóbal A.C.

I am very proud to be part of a community foundation that has for the past 14 years supported projects that promote social cohesion, the improvement of education, better health conditions and the protection of the environment for the benefit of the people of the region.

2020 is special to us as we celebrate 15 years of activities that positively impact the lives of the vulnerable populations of San Cristóbal and the Highlands of Chiapas.

We hope that this New Year will be good for everyone and that it will afford us the possibility to reinvent ourselves, together as a community.

Osmar is a young man with epilepsy who has shown signs of schizophrenia. Those symptoms have worsened over time as he has not been getting proper care. Ángeles de Amor’s objective is to find him the appropriate medical support that will improve his health. He is being successfully treated with anticonvulsants. To boost his skills and improve his individual performance, he has enrolled in a government program “Jóvenes Construyendo un Futuro” (“Youth Building a Future”). The seizures are now less frequent, he is able to control his emotions and the occurrence of violent episodes has decreased by 90%. Osmar is happy, motivated and fits in better with his family. He uses his salary to buy his medicine and to contribute to his family’s income.
Mario is 28 and has cerebral palsy. He and his family lived in extreme poverty. To survive, he has had to beg for money on the streets of San Cristóbal de Las Casas for nearly ten years. When he didn’t have enough money to pay his fare back home he slept at the local bus station. He could not go to school nor look after himself. When he came to Chantiik Taj Tajinkutik at the age of 17, he did not know how to read and write and he was in a generally very poor condition. Priority was given to his health. He received nutritious food and vitamins and was also provided with dental care. Through the online alphabetization program available at the association, Mario learned to read and write, he also discovered the world of computing which captivated him. With the knowledge acquired at Chantiik, he was able to get a job and he started saving money. A few years ago, he fulfilled his dream of installing his own cybercafé. He is now in a position to support his family whose situation has improved significantly. He is currently studying graphic design at the University of San Cristóbal where he is an outstanding student. Mario firmly believes that receiving implies giving back. Accordingly, he now teaches computer classes in Chantiik's.
“The teachers have shown great interest in the School Garden and Canteen Project. For example, the math teacher alluded to the problems we were having with the radishes we planted in the classroom. I thought that was cool.

“The chemistry teacher spoke to us about the compounds found in plants and seeds and that has helped us better understand their composition. The history teacher invited us to participate in the sowing and cultivation of squash gardens.” Comments by one of the students.
“I’m Pedro Hernández Pérez, I’m 30 years old, and I live in the community of El Pozo, San Juan Cancuc. I have worked in the fields since my teens, I am now a coffee and honey producer. During the past two years, I participated in workshops on diverse topics given by SOLMUNDI A.C., a civil association. This has allowed me to acquire and strengthen my skills in agriculture, beekeeping, chicken farming, as well as in growing coffee in an eco-friendly way. I’m still interested in acquiring new knowledge on agro-ecology and natural production techniques. I have learned new ways of working at those workshops.” Comments by Pedro Hernández Pérez, one of the project beneficiaries
Dulce quit school in fourth grade because she was bullied over her looks (she was told that she was fat and ugly) and the family decided that she wouldn’t return. Most of her siblings had not completed the basic grades either. Dulce is from Cuxtitali. When she came to the little school she did not know how to read and write, she looked very sad and in pain and kept her head down. She was able to overcome difficulties and obstacles. She now participates in school activities, her reading and writing skills have improved, she socializes with the others and can be heard laughing with the strong and spontaneous laugh of someone who has found some relief and acceptance. That laugh is a manifestation of her will, her strength, and her ability to fight for her rights in spite of the fact that she is growing in a family and social environment that discriminates against her because she is a woman, not schooled and because of her looks.
“I enjoy sheep farming very much. It was hard work at first because we didn’t know how to take care of them, what to feed them. They are Pelibuey sheep with which we were not familiar and we thought that it was going to be very difficult. Thanks to God and the support provided by Amigos de San Cristóbal and UNECODES we now know a little more. We certainly still have a lot to learn as this is our first year raising these little animals. Mine are already strong. We pray that they will breed and increase our stock. I really like to work with the women in the micro tunnel, we planted vegetables and they did well. We split them among ourselves to eat with our families, we sold a small part to meet the demand in our locality and we fed the animals with those that did not grow well.”

Manuela Vázquez Cosh, Bochilté, Huixtán.
We taught five women to read and write. They each went through a personalized training process. One of them said: “Look where I came to learn to write”. Thanks to workshops for reflection on self-care and health, many women are more aware of their bodies and learn to prioritize their needs. After attending a sexual health training process, three of them decided to replace their contraceptive method by one that would be less aggressive to their body.
Miriam is 15. She was born in the Community Home. Her mother Andrea came to the Community Home with two of her brothers. We provided them with shelter until Miriam was born. We stressed to Andrea that she should enroll her children in the Government's scholarships program so that she would receive some assistance and the children would not have to look for work. Miriam did not receive such a scholarship this year, her first year of high school. She had done all the paperwork in order to be eligible for the Colegio de Ciencia y Tecnología de Chiapas (Chiapas College of Science and Technology) exam. She is interested in a career in Tourism. She has not given up. She spoke with our partner who is in charge of self-employment workshops and asked to be taught how to market the articles she produces. She is very committed and aims for perfection. We bought the first earrings she made. She saved that money and continued to produce. She is completing her first semester in high school and is pleased with what she has learned and above all she is happy to stay in school studying what she likes while being committed to her obligations. She is an inspiration for her mother and her sister who also come to the weekly workshops.
