Coach Chester De Torres continues his foray in the province of Cavite through the Coaches Across Continents social impact program, this time at GK Hugo Perez neighborhood community in the city of Trece Matres, and as usual, with our Soup Kitchen to boot.

Coach Chester De Torres came to GK PNOC-Olaes in Cavite province not just to bring the Coaches Across Continents social impact program to the neighborhood community but also to share with them GK SipaG's own feeding program advocacy, our Soup Kitchen.

Thanks a lot for CAC for their social awareness lessons that is food for the mind and heart, and for serving also the meals after the sessions, that is food for the body.

Tropical storm Ulysses was unforgiving but we are likewise unrelenting in our push to fight hunger among our young people.

Our GK Manggahan-Kawayanan volunteers in Parañaque cooked hot champorado (chocolate pudding) meals to the neighborhood kids in the aftermath of the typhoon. Thank goodness, their people are safe. Thank you, too, to Kuya Faustino Abejero Jr., who facilitated this cookout

After the wrath of typhoon Rolly, our community in Paradise Heights, Tondo, Manila is back to their daily grind. Our SipaG and Kapitbahayan volunteers, spearheaded by Kuya Joseph Sarmiento prepared delicious champorado to give comfort during this typhoon season. The community is also silently campaigning for and fighting to "Save Smokey Mountain Field of Dreams", the vacant lot in their locality that serves as their football and baseball pitch and which is endangered lately to be converted into a parking lot by an impounding company.

Tropical storm Rolly is rolling by, but our soup kitchen is still on the roll. Ate Charmie Lagrimas kept her pot busy with hot champorado and balot penoy for the neighborhood kids of GK Concepcion in Buayang Bato to warm up the tummies of our youthful buddies. Good thing every bowl had been distributed hours before the strong winds came in. Keep safe, everyone. Stay indoors. Thanks so much to Herb Minnichhofer for always remembering the GK kids.

We salute the Hunger Warriors who answered the call of the Walang Iwanan Alliance (WIA) for the mitigation of hunger and the alleviation of malnutrition by banding our energies and bonding our resources together so that we all can solve this hunger problem while in the era of Covid 19 pandemic. As this is a continuing movement, we in GK SipaG are pleased to have participated in this drive and are fortunate to have partners who supported us in our Soup Kitchens since we started serving hot meals when community quarantine also commenced. We have cited them all, time and again.

Gratifying words are not enough to state how thankful we are to someone far, far away but whose thoughts are with the plight of others. Living distantly alone and working for the upkeep of her daughter studying back here did not dishearten this birthday celebrator from sharing her blessings as a manner of honoring her Creator for the good life she now enjoys. She deserves to be happy, and her happiness won't be coming from self indulgence but from the grins, greetings and gratitude of the kids she wished to see and be with if not for the hindrances of the pandemic.

There are advocates of our soup kitchen who would rather remain anonymous. Rightly so, as they adhere to the teaching of "not letting your left hand know what your right hand is doing." On the other hand, we insist on acknowledging them to highlight that there are real kind people in our midst worthy of emulation, that even in spite of their own need, they still are able to share. Besides, good deeds should "not be hidden under a bushel but placed on a lampstand" so as "to let your light shine before men."

This is a profound request from one of our GK SipaG mothers who happens to have a big heart for kids even not her own: that when she will celebrate her birthday, a soup kitchen for the kids of her GK neighborhood be conducted. By all means and gladly, the Malatbalat soup kitchen volunteers of GK 777 fulfilled the wish of the ever-supportive parent of our football program.
