We were glad to have Henri Nyakarundi of @AREDRwanda & Njeri of @lucidityafrica during yesterday's entrepreneur training webinar hosted by @somo_org. They gave supportive advice to local SMEs on how to navigate through #COVID19 and for the foreseeable future.

So LinkedIn friends, I have been keeping something from you for the past few months. Can't wait to fully disclose where VoluCulture is heading. We could not be here without our incredible technology partners DewCIS Solutions Ltd, Competa and Fair Trade Software Foundation. We want to bring Kenyans closer to great local nonprofits/cbo organizations doing awesome work by leveraging technology. We want to leverage the power of partnerships and community to fix our own issues. We know that many of these great organizations need your professional skills to help them fill capacity gaps and they don't have the budgets. We also want to make it easier for you to find these great giving back opportunities in one place online from the comfort of your sofa. So much more to come.

What is a specific cause that you care about?

We remain grateful to the partners who continue to stick with us and help us increase our impact during the #COVID-19 pandemic.

Nairobits Trust has gained two volunteers Delphine Nthia and Nyamwange Sam through VoluCulture an online open-sourcing volunteer organization during the COVID-19 shutdown period. VoluCulture helps organizations such as NairoBits get resourceful persons willing to volunteer into the core function of the organizations.

Mirror of Hope CBO has been in the fight against #COVID 19 through delivering care packages to needy families in the slums. We are grateful that they delivered care packages to some of our beneficiaries.
