Training Program for Affectivity and Sexuality

This year we begin with the training program aimed at children, adolescents, parents and guardians, its objective is to promote the harmonious development of the person in all its dimensions. The program consists of 10 sessions, the first workshop aimed at children from 4 to 8 years old, where it is sought that children:

- Make a relationship experience with your parents or responsible adults.
- Learn to recognize primary emotions.
- Develop your authority and self-knowledge.
- That they learn to take care of their own body and that of others and nature.

Parents:

- Promote the growth of dialogue capacity (family and community)
- Learn to play with children
- That they deepen sociocognitive knowledge, that there is a new awareness of the role they have as parents.
- What role the father plays between the child and technology.
- Protection of life.

In march was the inauguration of the program, where children and parents participated, it was a moment of celebration, the presentation of the families was very important, it continues to build relationships, between parents and the team. The workshop was done and finished with lunch and cake for everyone.

UNIVERSITY OF ROSARIO

We continue with the agreement, so that medical and nursing students continue to carry out the practices, in the CSU community.

They carry out medical evaluations to the families. Through epidemiological studies, they identify the diseases that mainly affect the community, thus prioritizing the interventions to be carried out. Since pollution is one of the major problems affecting the health of the community, periodic meetings are held with families to provide advice for the search and solutions to problems in the field of health.
