Part of our team in action

Currently, the CSU has an alliance with the Faculty of Medicine of the Universidad del Rosario, virtual and face-to-face meetings have been held with some people from the Venezuelan community (it is a considerable number that has recently arrived in our community), where they have been teaches expectant mothers about health and care issues.

In order to be more effective in communicating with parents and children, a blog has been created managed by the CSU instructors (who are people from the same community, several of whom attended the CSU when they were children), where they upload, the activities, jobs and experiences, and the philosophy of the center.
