

WE PROMISE

... to provide hope and healing.

*... to remember the littlest ones in need.
... to let compassion guide our decisions.
... to advocate for those with no voice.
... to hold the tiny hands of the ones in pain.
... to love children in every move we make.*

The Red Thread Promise exists for one reason: to improve the quality of life for special needs children so their disabilities will not leave them dependent on others throughout their lifetime. By meeting their physical needs, these children can live the lives of dignity they deserve. And only through your generous support can we continue to make this promise come true.
