PROJECTS ON PROGRESS

TREE PLANTING

Due to the rapidly increased of human populations, it has resulted into demand of more land for cultivations, house construction and wood as the source of cooking fuel. Focus on this demand, the cutting down of trees to provide room for constructions and other domestic uses does not put in consideration of replacing of trees through replanting, where currently it has lead the area in drought and uncomfortable climatic weather which may become the threats in the near future as it will increase the green houses gases in the atmosphere and hence affect directly the human and other living organism. It is with this situations raise the need to undertake this project within Meru district since 2019 where each year we do plant trees by distributing to the villagers in order to minimizing / reducing degradation of forest but also as their later pension in the future.

WATER PROJECT

Safety water is not yet accessed by many people in Tanzania. Shortage of water add more time to women whereby half of working hours are used only for searching for water several kilometers away. Effect affects whole members of the family especially schools children who need bathing and early breakfast before going to school. Most family activities that children participate includes fetching of water after school hours which search several kilometers away and arrive home very late evening very exhausted where cannot find more time for school work at home rather than sleeping .This problem has been reported as the major problem hindering the children performance in schools. Destiny Hope Foundation strived to some extent to eliminate the problem in only two villages by providing safe water in order to reduce the problems. We helped to build a water project for two villages by digging a water well of well of 25meters deep and currently we are using diesel engine to pump water to the reserve tanks which feed the communities. The second water well is drilled with heavy machine which will provide plenty of water to communities throughout the year

EDUCATION SUPPORT

The need for children's education is high across the region, economic limitations and currently Covid 19 economic effects have increased the number of children not to have basic school supplies such as good school uniforms, text books, exercise books, pens, school fees and food contribution fees. Destiny Hope Foundation plays a very low position in helping children in schools due to the fact that we don't have any donors who stands with us in carrying out the mission. If this could happen that we found the organization partners
