

PROGRESS REPORT

June 2023

The "Emprende Sin Fronteras" program provides training for young underprivileged girls between the ages of 14 and 17 to improve their self-esteem, family relationships, academic performance, and employment prospects. The initiative aims to expand opportunities for the personal and professional development of young Colombian women by offering a training-of-trainers program for professional women. The program includes a comprehensive training plan with digital methodological guides for trainers and beneficiaries to facilitate learning in other regions of the country.

- The number of participants increased by 20%, leading to a more significant impact on the empowerment of students by assisting them in discovering their life purpose and getting ready for university life.
- The efforts to strengthen the parents' school for families increased participation: twice as many families (40 instead of 20) are attending the activities.
- The program's promotional campaign successfully gained new allies, including ICSEF and the Colombian Air Force (FAC).
- Subject experts' group formed to guide and support the leadership team, contributing their knowledge to the program's development.
- Students participated in business visits having the opportunity to experience a day at the Universidad de La Sabana and immerse themselves in finance and the company culture by visiting the Experian Colombia site.
- The leadership team underwent professional development, including individual coaching sessions, a Juniper workshop on AI and digital marketing trends, and a 5-month virtual course on digital marketing provided by Global Giving.
