DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

Nurturing Roots, Growing Futures

Quarterly Impact Report | 2026

Expanding Skills, Sustaining Communities, Securing Futures

"The planet gets only one opportunity to experience your unique and powerful contributions, so share all that you are capable of at this moment" (Eric Jensen).

Building on our previous updates covering nursery growth, Environmental Day tree planting, the generous SPURS Women Group donation, model nursery expansion, and early Oceanic Bubbles progress, this quarter marks significant strides in vocational training, agricultural diversification, operational resilience, and enterprise development.

1. Launch of the TVET Program

We are proud to announce the official onset of our Technical and Vocational Education and Training (TVET) program. Courses now offered include Hair Beauty & Cosmetology, Information Communication Technology (ICT), Child Care & Protection, and Kenya Sign Language (KSL). The college welcomed its first student enrolled in the Kenya Sign Language course, marking a meaningful start to inclusive skills development that will empower youth and community members with marketable competencies.

2. Introduction of Sheep Farming

As part of our strategy to build sustainable income streams, we have introduced sheep farming. The college has received its first male sheep and is awaiting the female sheep supported through GlobalGiving funding. This initiative is designed both as a future revenue source for the institution and as a means to supplement meals for students and staff, strengthening food security and operational self-reliance.

3. Salaries & Wages – Sustaining Our Team

Kenya's current economic challenges have placed considerable pressure on the college's operations. In this context, approximately 30% of GlobalGiving funds have been directed toward salaries and wages. This support has been critical in retaining dedicated staff and ensuring continuity of quality education and care for the children and learners we serve.

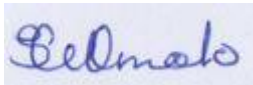

4. Oceanic Bubbles Bottling Plant Update

Progress continues on the Oceanic Bubbles bottling plant. As we move closer to completing all regulatory requirements, the plant has begun limited public trials of its water. This low-scale introduction is helping introduce the brand to the community while final compliance steps are finalized—an important milestone toward a viable social enterprise.

Closing Note

We remain deeply grateful to GlobalGiving partners whose continued trust and investment make these advances possible. Your support is translating directly into skills, resilience, and hope for the young people and families in our community. Thank you for walking this journey with us.

Sincerely,

Sister Celine Omolo, FSJ, Ed. D
Director, Franciscan Training College Nyamonge

OUTLOOK FOR FUTURE YEARS

Nurturing Roots, Growing Futures

Looking ahead, we anticipate full enrollment growth across the new TVET courses, completion of the sheep flock to begin breeding and income generation, stabilization of staff support as economic conditions evolve, and the formal market launch of Oceanic Bubbles once all regulations are in place. These interconnected efforts—education, agriculture, and enterprise—will further strengthen the college’s sustainability and deepen our impact on the next generation.

On the enterprise side, Oceanic Bubbles is expected to move from limited public trials to a formal market launch once all regulatory requirements are met. These interconnected efforts—vocational education, agricultural enterprise, and social business—will further strengthen the college’s long-term sustainability and deepen our impact on the next generation of young people in our community.
