

Oregon's John Day River

After three years of hard work, we conveyed more than 16,000 acres of critical habitat along the John Day River to the Oregon Parks and Recreation Department for permanent stewardship. This sets the stage for Oregon's newest and largest state park.

David Jensen Photo

Utah's Bear River

In September, 2011 WRC conveyed 580 acres of land to the Bear River Migratory Bird Refuge in Utah. The addition of this property to the refuge will enhance the visitor experience at this internationally important migratory bird refuge.

Kris Lander Photo

