

WESTERN RIVERS CONSERVANCY

www.westernrivers.org

Global Giving
Project Report Photos
November 2010

CALBERT OF FISH & GAME

Land acquisition is the critical first step for one of the most restorable tidal marshlands on California's North Coast, along the Salt River in the Eel River Delta.

SONTHHSOY

Our recent purchase fronts critical habitat along the North Channel of the Alsea River and Drift Creek, conserving critical habitat for Oregon Coastal coho salmon.

PETER MARBACH

Balsamroot blooms in Oregon's lower John Day canyon, where the new Cottonwood Canyon State Park is taking shape on lands acquired by Western Rivers Conservancy.

ROB DAUGHERTY / ROBSWILDLIFE.COM

A great egret takes off from 696 acres purchased recently for inclusion in the Bear River Migratory Bird Refuge adjacent to Utah's Great Salt Lake.

JOSH KINGS

WRC is acquiring 520 acres along Oregon's North Fork Smith River, a salmon and steelhead stronghold of the large Umpqua River system.