

A Place to Belong: Children in Families

“What once was shelter is now a home.”

His story reminds us that the impact of a foster home extends far beyond providing a safe place to live. When children are surrounded by care, stability, and opportunities to thrive, they can also inspire profound changes in the adults who accompany them.

“Every child deserves more than survival—they deserve love.”

Every smile, every new word, every game with Mr. Potato Head, and every small achievement reminds them of what they are working toward. Alfredo has helped transform their perspective: instead of seeing only the challenges ahead, they are increasingly able to see the possibilities.

- “His parents often describe him as their “little engine”—the small person who motivates them to continue, to learn, and to create a better future for their family.

With your support, stories like Alfredo's are possible. Together, we can continue creating safe and loving environments where children living with HIV can grow with dignity, affection, and hope.

Thank you!
