

The Village Microclinic team

Improving healthcare through technology

1. The problem

People lack access to primary care services due to inadequate medical infrastructure and a shortage of qualified health services providers

In Burundi more than 9 million people suffer from preventable conditions such as malaria, malnutrition, tuberculosis with crude death rate 7,61 deaths per thousand population.

2. The solution

The Village Microclinic wants to build a tech-enabled platform in Burundi to connect patient to health services providers for consultations, diagnosis, treatment and referral. That platform will combine virtual and in person care services to offer unlimited access to qualified clinicians over the phone.
