Milestones of the training and support processes

February–March: The Ecos received one or two in-class support visits to strengthen their leadership, identify areas for improvement, and enhance the learning and development of their students.

March: The Ecos participated in their first Regional Institute, a key space for building a collective narrative about the impact of their learning and the leadership of their students.

Our reach for what's coming in 2025

20.791 students

33 municipalities

13 regions

A community that grows with purpose

Thank you for being part of this transformative story.

This first quarter of 2025 would not have been the same without you. Currently, we are 40 recurring donors committed to quality education in Colombia.

The Ecos of Enseña por Colombia, exceptional leaders committed to education, are key to making this change possible. With your support, we are ensuring that these agents of change reach more regions of the country, bringing quality education to the most vulnerable communities.

Thanks to you, today we are building a bright future full of opportunities for this generation

Impact story

Your support makes stories like that of Juan David Puerta possible. He is in his second year as an Eco in Bogotá at the Argelia School. Through his authentic perspective, we see the real challenges he faces as a teacher, such as dealing with a student with aggressive behaviors. But instead of giving up, Juan David has decided to look beyond, understand the context of each child, and recognize that each of his students is a unique universe to discover. His commitment has not only helped change attitudes but also build deep connections, demonstrating that empathy and dedication can open paths to transformation, even in the most challenging environments.
