

We empower women to become financially independent through the production and sale of quality handicrafts.

We also collaborate with Shree Janajagrit secondary schools to open two Early Childhood Development classes. This provides childcare for women employed in the handicraft sector.

ABOUT US

Sharing Seeds aims to improve organic agricultural practices and empower women's financial independence around the Pokhara region of Nepal.

We provide local farmers and young people with knowledge on how to grow organic arabica coffee and how to make organic honey.

We also support local women's groups by providing jobs in recyclable handicraft production.

ORGANIC ARABICA COFFEE FARMING

We co-ordinate with groups of farmers around Sarangkot village, and nearby regions, to support the production of organic arabica coffee by providing training, support and plant distribution.

ORGANIC BEE FARMING

We provide training on the importance of bees and methods of sustainable, organic beekeeping.

Beekeepers are supported in their businesses and provided with a platform to sell organic honey.

Why us?

Many rural young people in Nepal migrate to foreign countries to work in low paid and dangerous jobs.

We provide training in organic farming and the means to support themselves and their community.
