

Scholarship Project Report

Introduction

This report presents brief profiles of three students under the scholarship project. The information below highlights their age, class, family background, school details, and village information. These students come from communities where educational support is especially important for continued learning and personal development.

1) Sandhya Syangtan

Age: 13

Class: 5

School: Shree Gyanodaya Primary School

Village: Ghongba

Family Background: Sandhya is parentless and lives with her grandparents.

Profile Summary

Sandhya Syangtan is a 13-year-old student studying in Class 5 at Shree Gyanodaya Primary School. She lives in the village of Ghongba and is currently under the care of her grandparents, as she has lost her parents.

Sandhya's situation shows a clear need for educational and social support. Children in parentless households often face financial hardship and emotional challenges. A scholarship can help ensure that she continues her education without interruption and receives encouragement to build a brighter future.

2) Bidhya Ghyaba

Age: 14

Bidhya Ghyaba is a 14-year-old student in Class 7 from Ghurdum village. She belongs to a family of six daughters. Her elder sister completed her studies up to Grade 12 and was involved in volunteering through “Our Study Place,” but after marriage she left the village. The family situation suggests possible social and economic pressure, especially in a household with many daughters.

Bidhya’s case reflects the importance of supporting girls’ education in communities where traditional family expectations may affect access to learning opportunities. A scholarship would help provide her with motivation, stability, and continued access to schooling.

Scholarship Project Purpose

The scholarship project aims to:

- Support students from disadvantaged and vulnerable backgrounds
- Encourage regular school attendance and academic progress
- Reduce financial barriers to education
- Promote equal access to education, especially for girls and parentless children
- Strengthen long-term opportunities for children from rural villages

Conclusion

The three students listed in this report—Sandhya Syangtan, Bidhya Ghyaba, and Mingma Singer—each represent the need for educational support in different ways. Sandhya is a parentless child living with grandparents, Bidhya comes from a family of six daughters facing social and family challenges, and Mingma is a young student from Ghurdum who may also benefit from assistance.

A scholarship for these students would help them continue their studies with greater confidence and stability. With proper support, they can improve their academic performance and build better futures for themselves and their communities.
