

MISR ELKHEIR COMMUNITY SCHOOLS

Misr Elkheir Foundation is one of the first organizations to take the Community School initiative since 2010 after the UNESCO model with establishing and operating 1,084 community schools to this day.

United Nations
Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization

MAIN GOAL

Providing high quality educational opportunities for dropout children and those who are being kept away from education due to lack of safety, or cultural and economic reasons from 6-18 years of age, providing socio-economic community awareness, with the aim of empowering the local community to manage these schools. The community school is a one classroom school for 25-30 students.

MEK has won the UNESCO prize-2018 Edition regarding its formidable impact on Girls & Women Education and significant prevention or delay of early marriage.

IMPACT

Providing a last chance of high-quality education for 32,415 children and their communities in 481 villages in 11 governorates.
12,841 girls, and 6,733 boys
as 60% girls: 40% boys.

Reducing early marriage rates for girls, by involving girls as change agents, indulging in extra-curricular academic, cultural and sport activities such as: UCMAS, musical instruments, scouting, singing and karate for self-defense.

Achieving a remarkable increase in safety rates of students especially girls going to schools not exposed to road dangers such as (drains and canals - highways – railways).This encouraged parents to send their girls.

SUCCESS STORY: EIDA

Eida was a shepherd girl, who grew up in a small village, with a very low standard of living. Eida struggled a lot to enroll in school, but all her attempts were unsuccessful.

One day there were many conversations about a school that would be set up near Eida's humble home in the village of Esna, a village deprived of all services that would lead to a decent life Eida rushed to the facilitators, and asked them to meet her father and convince him to attend school, Eida realized her dream and joined the school when she was seven years old, as the closest school to Eid's house is more than (3) kilometers. Now Eida, went to Middle School and wants to be a teacher!
