FROM HARDSHIP TO HOPE: ELIAMANI AND HER CHILDREN'S JOURNEY TO SELF-SUSTAINABILITY

This year, Eliamani completed our self-sustainability course, which equipped her with the skills and confidence to start her own business. She dreams of opening a small food stand at the bus stop in Maroroni—a venture that would enable her to regain financial independence and support her family. As a widow with two beautiful children, Nancy and Zuwena, Eliamani faces significant challenges. She lives in a small room the size of a closet, where all three share a bed, without electricity or easy access to clean water. She is unable to consistently provide food and clothing for her children. Despite these hardships, Eliamani remains a brave and hardworking woman. Since completing the self-sustainability course, WOW Tanzania is confident that, with our small micro-loan and hands-on guidance from our dedicated volunteers, she can succeed. She has already begun taking the first steps toward achieving her dream.

Empowering Eliamani is not just an investment in her future but also in her ability to become a successful entrepreneur who can uplift her family and inspire her community. As a widow, the pressures of raising two children on her own weigh heavily on her shoulders, but your support is helping to ease that burden. It is because of your donations and sponsorships that their lives are permanently changing for the better. Thanks to your contributions, Eliamani's children no longer live in fear of their next meal. Your support extends beyond meeting immediate needs—it creates lasting transformation. By helping women like Eliamani, we're building sustainable futures for entire families, strengthening the community, and breaking the cycle of poverty. Your generosity enables us to provide weekly food supplies, educational sponsorships, and mentorship, serving as a lifeline for families like hers. As we look ahead, we are committed to walking alongside Eliamani on her journey toward independence. Together, we can help make her dream of running a successful business a reality and ensure her children receive the education they need to thrive. Thank you for standing with us and believing in this mission of hope and transformation. Your contributions are more than charity—they are an investment in a brighter future for Eliamani and her family.

A DAY OF FUN, CREATIVITY, AND CONNECTION FOR OUR SAC CHILDREN

At WOW Tanzania, we are proud to have nearly 17 children enrolled in our Sponsor-A-Child program, all of whom are currently pursuing their education with great dedication. At the moment, the children are on their one-month winter vacation, and we have planned a special event to bring them together for a day of joy, creativity, and connection.

The event took place at our office premises and lasted three hours, featuring a variety of fun and engaging activities. The children enjoyed delicious meals, participated in crafting activities such as making tissue flowers, and wrote heartfelt letters to their sponsors, expressing their gratitude and sharing updates about their lives. We also played lively games like football and Duck-Duck-Goose, fostering teamwork and creating lasting memories with their peers. Our volunteers, Christine and Scholastica led the workshop, guiding the children throughout the event and ensuring they had a fulfilling and enjoyable experience. They supported and inspired the children during these activities, helping them grow their creativity, teamwork, and communication skills.

This event not only provided an opportunity for the children to relax and have fun during their holiday but also strengthened their sense of belonging within the WOW Tanzania family. These children come from homes constantly filled with the stress of survival, stealing their childhood from them. They typically go straight from school to home and rarely get to enjoy themselves as children.

Thank you for giving them a moment of joy that will help them grow and thrive. We are excited to host such celebrations, knowing they leave a positive and lasting impact on these young lives.

We are incredibly happy to share exciting news! WOW Tanzania has been awarded a grant from the American Embassy to tackle the water and sanitation crisis in our community by building wells, installing rainwater harvesters, and providing water filters to schools and families in need. Additionally, we have partnered with professional grant writers from a university in Italy, whose expertise has already helped us progress to the second round for another major grant. These funds will enable us to expand our impact beyond supporting our SAC children, to building toilets, ensuring clean water access, and creating safe hygiene spaces for more families. With your support and prayers, we aim to ensure that, by 2027, more children and families can enjoy their basic rights to clean water, sanitation, and education. NANCY'S SUCCESS: A STORY OF HOPE AND SUPPORT

We are thrilled to share some wonderful news about the outstanding performance of one of our children, Nancy, at school. Despite facing significant hardships while preparing for her exams and during her time at school, Nancy excelled, achieving an impressive fourth position out of 52 students in her class. This remarkable accomplishment would not have been possible without your generous support.

Your contributions allowed us to provide Nancy with essential school supplies and consistent access to nutritious food, enabling her to stay in school, remain healthy, and focus on her studies. Your support not only gave her the physical nourishment she needed but also brought her hope and a renewed determination to overcome her challenges.

During our recent visit to her school, we delivered beans and maize to supply Nancy with a semester's worth of food, easing her family's burden. Nancy was overjoyed and expressed her heartfelt commitment to working even harder in school, despite the ongoing struggles her family faces.

As we shared in a previous story about her widow mother, Eliamani, Nancy's journey is a testament to the transformative power of your support. Together, we can continue to provide education, food, and essential resources to more children like Nancy, empowering them to stay in school, excel academically, and build brighter futures for themselves and their communities.

Nancy's story also highlights the importance of sustaining this critical work. Many other children face similar challenges and need support to access basic necessities like food, school supplies, and a safe learning environment. Together, we can ensure that no child is left behind.

Your unwavering belief in our mission enables us to reach more children, provide hope where it's needed most, and create a generation that is educated, empowered, and ready to bring positive change to their families and communities.

Thank you for being an integral part of this life-changing journey!
