

SEND WWII VETERANS BACK TO NORMANDY BATTLEFIELDS WITH STUDENTS BUDGET

Revised November 11, 2010

The Greatest Generations Foundation's mission is to give aging World War II veterans the closure they need before they pass on. It is vital to preserve the stories of bravery, service, and sacrifice before time runs out. Therefore, we have created The Legacy at Normandy, a permanent educational facility just minutes from the beaches in Normandy, France (the site of D-Day during World War II) to give veterans a unique opportunity to share their legacy with students in order to gain healing and closure. By hearing stories of war-time sacrifice, students will be able to gain a deeper knowledge and appreciation for the sacrifices made not only by those veterans who are still living but also those who never returned home.

Our goal is to send 40 World War II veterans to the facility in Normandy in 2011.
