RABBIES

Anti Rabies vaccination should be given between three to six months of age depending on the immune status of the dam. Thereafter yearly booster should be administered.

Rabies is a widely known disease of dogs that can be transmitted to human beings through the bite of infected dogs, Animal vaccination of dogs is need to eliminate rabies as an important disease of public health significance.

There are two forms of the disease in dogs they are:

(i) Furious Form (ii) Dumb Form

The furious form is characterized by aggressiveness, 'dilated pupil; roaming especially for a long distance, biting imaginary objects, chewing objects etc while the dumb form is characterized by muscle paralysis, profuse salivation that droops, inability to swallow and dropping of the jaw.

If Bitten by Dog

When bitten by dog, wash with soap and scrub with alcohol and seek prompt medical attention. Keep dogs under surveillance and observe for change in behaviour within 10days under a veterinary expert.
