

MEGA PLANTATION DRIVE

Maraka Interchange, Lahore

Alkhidmat Foundation, in collaboration with Sui Northern Gas Pipeline Limited (SNGPL), Parks and Horticulture Authority (PHA), and the University of Central Punjab (UCP), organized a Mega Plantation Drive at the Maraka Interchange on Multan Road, Lahore.

The initiative brought together over 350+ dedicated volunteers from University of Central Punjab (UCP), who collectively planted more than 20,000 trees in a single day. This large-scale activity reflects a strong commitment from all partnering organizations towards environmental sustainability, urban beautification, and community service.

The initiative brought together over 350+ dedicated volunteers from University of Central Punjab (UCP), who collectively planted more than 20,000 trees in a single day. This large-scale activity reflects a strong commitment from all partnering organizations towards environmental sustainability, urban beautification, and community service.

The plantation drive aimed to combat climate change, reduce pollution, and promote green spaces within the city. The active participation of youth and community members demonstrated the growing awareness and responsibility among citizens for a sustainable future.

