

Our COVID-19 Response

320

rural health care workers equipped with PPE, allowing them to continue caring for patients

1,000+

food baskets delivered, each serving a family of five for a month

2M+

People reached daily with COVID-19 videos and radio spots in Kachiquel, K'iche, and Tzutujil

The COVID-19 pandemic is creating new health threats for Guatemala's most vulnerable communities. Jobs and incomes have disappeared, malnutrition and hunger have spiked, and public health services are overwhelmed.

OUR APPROACH

Leveraging our core strengths, we've quickly built a powerful, comprehensive response:

Uniting medicine, culture, and language. We're making critical information accessible in seven languages & multiple media.

Increasing impact through collaboration. We're leaning into longstanding partnerships to expand our reach in rural areas.

Building health care capacity. We're keeping our staff safe, employed, and informed with the latest protocols.

Strengthening primary care. We're continuing to serve our 20,000 patients using home care, clinics, and telemedicine.

HOW YOU CAN HELP

Donate! Help us provide ongoing quality care and scale up to meet the new challenges arising with COVID-19.