🔍 Project Summary

Sexual abuse and gender-based violence remain pervasive in Ethiopia, silencing thousands of young girls who suffer in shame and fear. Many victims face rejection, trauma, or are forced into early marriage. “Release Sobbing Daughters from Sexual Abuse” seeks to break this silence and provide hope, healing, and justice for girls and young women who have suffered abuse.

Over 6 years, FUGAO will establish safe rehabilitation centers, deliver trauma-informed care, empower survivors with education and skills, and lead national advocacy to transform societal norms. The project envisions an Ethiopia where no daughter suffers in silence — where survivors are protected, believed, and given a chance to rebuild their futures.

📌 Pressing Problem

- ✓ 1 in 3 Ethiopian girls experience sexual violence before age 18.
- ✓ Fear of stigma and retaliation prevents victims from reporting abuse.
- ✓ Survivors often lack access to medical, legal, or psychological support.
- ✓ Poverty, displacement, and weak enforcement exacerbate vulnerability.

🔥 Why This Matters

- ✓ Protecting girls from sexual abuse saves futures, families, and generations.
- ✓ Healing survivors restores dignity and breaks the cycle of trauma.
- ✓ Empowered, educated girls become leaders in creating safer communities.

💡 Our Solution

Over 6 years, the project will:

- ✓ Establish 6 Safe Daughters Centers (one in each region)
- ✓ Deliver trauma counselling to 10,000 survivors
- ✓ Provide vocational skills training for 2,000 girls
- ✓ Conduct community awareness campaigns reaching 1 million people
- ✓ Support 500 survivors through education scholarships
- ✓ Facilitate legal aid for 3,000 cases of abuse
