

Detailed Project Description “Provide Food for 300 War-Affected Children in Ukraine”

Project Goal / Title

“Provide Food for 300 War-Affected Children in Ukraine”

Short Description

300 children from displaced families who lost their homes during the war now live in Vinnytsia. Most of their families come from the destroyed city of Bakhmut and are forced to live in dormitories, shelters, or rented housing. This project provides monthly food packages and hygiene supplies for these children. Parents receive the necessary support once a month at the local displaced families’ community center.

Project Duration

1 month

Total Budget USD 5,000

What problem, need, or challenge does the project address?

Many displaced families arrived in Vinnytsia without belongings or savings after their homes were destroyed during the war. Due to the economic crisis, food prices have risen significantly while incomes remain low. A large part of family income is spent on rent and utilities, leaving many parents unable to fully provide for their children.

More than 180,000 internally displaced people now live in Vinnytsia, and community resources are limited. International aid reaches only a portion of the most vulnerable families.

How will the project solve the problem?

The project will provide displaced families with children with monthly food packages and basic hygiene supplies. Parents will regularly receive essential products for their children.

This support will help families ensure stable nutrition for their children, reduce financial pressure on household budgets, and allow parents to spend their limited income on other basic needs. It will make families less vulnerable during the war and provide a sense of real support, dignity, and care.

Potential Long-Term Impact

Regular access to basic food and hygiene supplies helps displaced families maintain their health and dignity during the war. When parents receive consistent support for essential needs, they can allocate their limited resources to other priorities such as medicine, education, clothing, and safe living conditions for their children. This reduces the risk of poverty and long-term hardship, supports families’ adaptation in the community, and helps them gradually rebuild stability and independence.
