

Community Mountain Hike

RAISE AWARENESS OF SEX
TRAFFICKING Protecting
Girls at Risk

Project Summary

We are organizing a community mountain hike to raise awareness about sex trafficking, teach participants how to identify warning signs and report suspected cases, and mobilize support for daughters of sex workers at higher risk. Together with community leaders, youth groups, and volunteers, we will distribute educational materials and build a network of informed advocates ready to protect vulnerable girls.

THE CHALLENGE

Vulnerable Girls

Many girls, especially daughters of sex workers, face high risk of trafficking and exploitation.

Risk Factors

Poverty, limited education, and lack of public knowledge leave them vulnerable.

Awareness Gap

Community members often do not know how to identify or report trafficking.

Our Solution

Organize the Hike

Plan a community mountain hike as a safe, educational gathering that brings people together to learn and take action.

Teach Warning Signs

Show participants how traffickers target girls, what warning signs look like, and how to report suspected cases quickly.

Distribute Materials

Share brochures, posters, and guides so families, schools, and community groups can continue spreading awareness.

Engage Leaders & Youth

Partner with community leaders, youth groups, and volunteers to amplify the message and build lasting support.

Support At-Risk Girls

Create a welcoming space that connects vulnerable girls, including daughters of sex workers, with local support networks.

Budget Breakdown

Hike Logistics

$1,000 — Transportation, permits, and safety equipment for the mountain hike.

Materials & Outreach

$1,000 — Brochures, posters, guides, awareness events, and local media outreach.

Coordination & Support

$600 — Volunteer training, supplies, communication, refreshments, and first aid

Long-Term Impact

Build lasting public knowledge about sex trafficking. Encourage families and schools to keep sharing prevention and reporting information. Provide a safe platform for survivors to share their experiences voluntarily. Help connect vulnerable girls with support networks that protect and empower them.
